

Creating a PubMed search panel

- Navigate to the panel editor
- Configure the panel as described below
 - Set whether users should be able to close the panel
 - Set whether the panel should appear before or after login, or both
 - Create a title (Mandatory)
 - Create a description (Mandatory)
 - Enter the Search engine URL e.g. http://www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/sites/entrez?db=pubmed&cmd=search&holding=<holding_code>
 - Where <holding_code> is your own organisations code for PubMed
 - Select post
 - You have the option to change the label which appear on the 'Submit' button
 - Click 'Add input box' to configure the free text search field
 - Enter label text for search field
 - Enter a parameter name e.g. 'term' for PubMed

General Options

Closable by user?

Appears: Before log in After log in

Actions:

Panel Options

Title:

Description:

Search engine URL:

HTTP method: get post

Submit button text:

Submit button value:

(Optional)

Input box

Box title:

Parameter name:

Max length: (optional)

Add Fields:

- Click 'Update' to show a preview of what the panel will look like

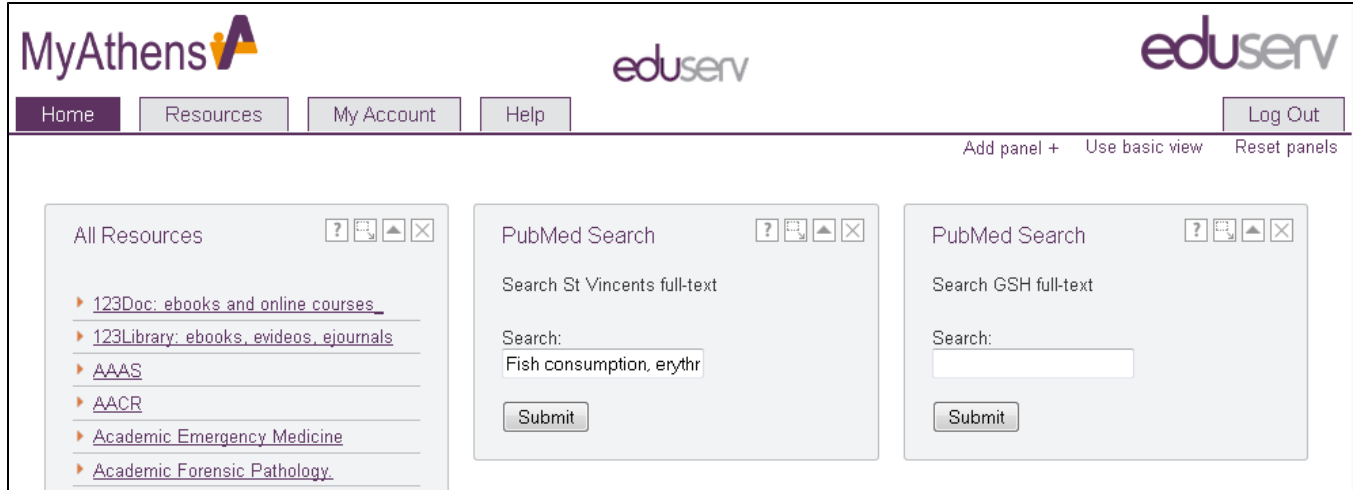

PubMed Search

Search full-text

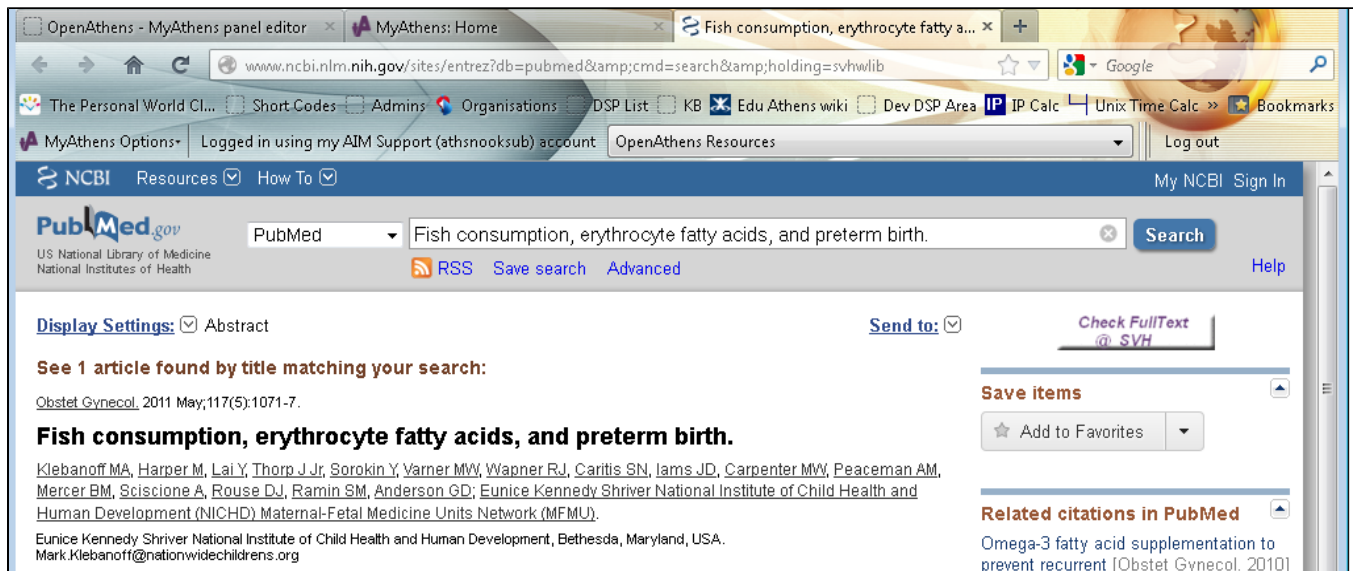

Search:

Using the PubMed Search Panel

1. Login to MyAthens and you will see the panel

- Enter a search term and click 'Submit' to carry out the search

You will see that we are at a particular article and due to the URL we used, we are presented with St Vincent's Full-text link in the top-right hand corner.